Letter of Recommendation

I closely followed the musical and professional development of Sascha and Mischa Manz for about ten past years. Since half a year they have been students of my class at the Musikhochschule Winterthur-Zurich. This experience gives me an opportunity to estimate these two young artists as extremely gifted young pianists who not only possess but have already developed many of their professional and musical qualities. Due to their solid technical base they can afford to perform highly demanding works with fascinating easyness and freedom. Their variable expression together with a very personal musical approach also provides them with necessary means for interesting and persuasive interpretation of the repertoire.
